Fees reduced for more affordable camping

Revised fee structures for camping in Victoria's parks and reserves comes into effect from 18 December 2015, following a statewide review.

The fee for camping at mid-level campsites has been reduced, from $38.90 to $28.00 per site in peak season.

These changes will ensure that Victorians continue to have access to these beautiful places, while making sure that the costs of providing safe, visitor-friendly facilities and services are sustainable and affordable.

This change will occur in 48 campgrounds around the state, in parks including the Grampians National Park and the Great Otway National Park. Please refer to the full list of campgrounds overleaf.

Campsites can be booked online on www.parks.vic.gov.au/stay or by calling 13 1963.

Special category campgrounds

Eight mid-level campgrounds have been reclassified to 'special category'. For one of them, Banksia Bluff Campground in Cape Conran National Park the fee will remain unchanged at $38.90 in peak season.

For Bunga Arm campground in Gippsland Lake National Park the fee has been reduced further to $21.00 in peak season.

Camping seasons

Peak period rates apply to busy weekends and holidays. A five per cent discount for shoulder periods and a ten per cent discount for off peak seasons will apply.

Refunds

Customers who have booked to stay from 18 December 2015 will be automatically refunded for the reduced fees by Parks Victoria, but the bookings will still be honoured.

Parks Victoria has begun to process refunds for these campgrounds, which will continue into 2016.

Customers do not need to contact Parks Victoria; refunds will be processed for everyone who has a booking in an affected campground.

Parks are special places

Victoria's parks protect our most treasured natural places. Parks are places that sustain and inspire us. They are places for adventure and discovery, places to be alone and to connect with others. They are Victoria's backyard.

Staying overnight in a park or reserve is a special experience. Campgrounds and cabins in parks and reserves allow visitors to stay in the heart of Victoria's natural environment.

The overnight fees are used to maintain the camping and accommodation facilities and services; ensuring that these special places are available into the future.
